To the Trading Members in the Capital Market Segment

Circular No: NSE/F&A/13028

Date: September 7, 2009

Dear Members,

Sub: Reduction in Transaction charges payable in respect of Capital Market Segment

Trading members are aware that, the Exchange has been periodically revising its transaction charges downwards. This has helped the investors by reducing the overall cost of trading and has also helped in wider participation of investors in the capital market.

Presently, the Exchange levies transaction charges @ Rs 3.50 per lakh (0.0035%) of the traded value on each side.

In continuation of the above the Exchange has decided to further reduce the transaction charges for trades done in the Capital Market segment from its present level to a slab based structure as given below -

Total Traded Value in a month	Revised Transaction Charges (Rs. per lakh of Traded Value)
Up to First Rs. 1250 cores	Rs. 3.25 each side
More than Rs. 1250 crores up to Rs. 2500 crores (on incremental volume)	Rs. 3.20 each side
More than Rs. 2500 crores up to Rs. 5000 crores (on incremental volume)	Rs. 3.15 each side
More than Rs. 5000 crores up to Rs. 10000 crores (on incremental volume)	Rs. 3.10 each side
More than Rs. 10000 crores up to Rs. 15000 crores (on incremental volume)	Rs. 3.05 each side
Exceeding Rs.15000 crores (on incremental volume)	Rs. 3.00 each side

It is further notified that the above slab based structure will be applicable to all trades done in the Capital Market Segment with effect from 1st October 2009.

Trading members are advised to pass on the benefit of the above reduction in the transaction charges to their constituents.
